

ABSTRACT

A hybrid substrate, i.e., a substrate fabricated from different materials, and method for fabricating the same are presented. The hybrid substrate is configured for fabricating more than two different devices thereon, has a high thermal conductivity, and is configured for patterning interconnects thereon for interconnecting the different devices fabricated on the hybrid substrate.